Description

This 1969 Piper Cherokee 140 presents as a clean, well-kept example of a classic, economical personal aircraft. The airplane was repainted in June 2015 in a red and white scheme and continues to show well, with good overall ramp appeal.

The exterior is straight and tidy, with consistent paint and a clean appearance throughout. It has clearly been maintained as an airplane to be owned and enjoyed.

Inside, the cabin is clean and functional with a classic Cherokee layout. The panel is straightforward and uncluttered, providing a familiar and practical cockpit environment. Seats, side panels, and interior components are in good condition and present well.

The Cherokee 140 is a proven, simple platform known for reasonable operating costs and widespread parts and maintenance support, making it a popular choice for training, time building, or personal ownership. This aircraft is being offered as a straightforward, honest example and is available for inspection and pre-buy. Serious inquiries are welcome, all logs are digitized along with additional pictures.

Please Inquire for digital logbooks and additional pictures.
